COOK HAD A BAD COFFEE HABIT

More About the Servant Problem
From a Householder
Who Suffers.

Advertiser:—A lady who has had considerable trouble during the past four months in keeping her Oriental servants more than three or four weeks at a time, has discovered one reason why her grocery bills ran up so high each month. She was in the habit of sending her cook to the grocer's with a memorandum of kitchen necessities required from time to time, but it was only last week that she discovered the coffee tin had to be replenished often-er than it should have been for her small family.

The servant one morning came to her and said, "Coffee all gone." As a supply of the brown berries had been sent for and brought home from the grocer's two mornings previous, her suspicions were immediately aroused. She went to the kitchen while the man was busy elsewhere, took the tin from the shelf and found it about half full. Then it dawned upon her that the servant was probably in the habit of getting the new supplies asked for and spiriting them away for his own use. She wrote the order on the memorandum and watched the result. The next day she asked the Chinese if he had brought the coffee, to which he replied in the affirmative and hastened to show her the tin, which contained but little more coffee than on the previous day. A further investigation brought out the fact that the Chinese cook had an interest in a store, and this was one of the means he used to replenish the stock of groceries in the concern. The balance of the coffee which the wily Celestial brought back from town was never found in the house, and is supposed to have found its way to the shop shelves to add to his personal revenues. The next day a cupboard which can be locked up was ordered, the key to which reposes in the lady's pocket.

COWARD HANDS STRIKE WOMEN

Wives Weep When Husbands Become Brutes and Justice
Waits on Tardy Law.

An ill-treated and deserted wife swore out a warrant for the arrest of her husband, Charles Kepahu, yesterday afternoon. The couple had been living at Kailua camp. The man was in the habit of beating his wife. He beat her cruelly the other day and sent her away from the camp. She wandered uncared for and unprotected. She had no money. At last she complained to the police and her husband was arrested. His case comes up in the police court this morning.

Another sad case came to light yesterday. A weeping woman went to the police station to swear out a warrant against her husband for assault and battery. A horrible pug over her left temple showed where some inhuman fist had struck the frail creature. Her eyes were red with weeping and her voice trembled with suppressed emotion as she unfolded her tale of family plikia to the clerk. She was informed that a warrant could not then be made out as the judge was not present to sign it. Official red tape sometimes stands in the way of justice—for a time. The wretched woman went home—perhaps to get another beating at the hands of the man who had sworn to love and protect her. An officer could easily have been sent for the offender without waiting for the judge. The woman acknowledged that she had been drinking a little, that she went home and found a crowd of people in the house with her husband, that she objected to their presence saying they were not friends of the family, and that he, enraged, had struck her in the face with his bare fist. Should the woman have her husband arrested his case will come up this morning.

D. FALVEY SCORES THE MOST POINTS

Wins Y. M. C. A. Pentathlon Last Night Contest With a Total of 4323-10 Points.

The final contests in the Y. M. C. A. Pentathlon competition were held last night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. A big crowd was present who were unstinted in their applause as each athlete distinguished himself.

Two local Y. M. C. A. records were broken: the high spring-board jump which formerly stood at 7 feet and which was tonight notched up four inches to 7 feet 4 inches by Elerath, and the hitch kick which was raised from 7 feet 10 inches to 8 feet 3 inches by Johnston. These records, especially the former, compare very favorably with the States Y. M. C. A. standard in these events.

Daniel Falvey made the winning score of 4323-10, Ben Clark came second with 423 points, while third place was filled by Elerath who totalled 387. The season's gymnasium work ended last night and its results as gauged by the competition figures are highly satisfactory.

A hand-ball tournament starts on Monday evening which promises to prove as great a success as the Pentathlon contests.
